

NIA K. N. JACKSON, Esq., Int'l. MBA, is an awareness champion.

As a transformational mindset coach and business consultant, Nia teaches people how to increase awareness in their personal and professional lives. As the Founder and Principal Consultant of Envisionary Consulting, LLC, she has counseled numerous entrepreneurs to become more aware of themselves and how they fit into and communicate within the organizations they lead. Nia believes that success doesn't lie within innovation or supply chain management. Rather, it lies within the journey to create a synergistic output that is the result of the alignment of the physical, human, and environmental capital that contribute to organizations.

Nia created Envisionary Consulting, LLC in 2013 to address the introspection challenges of individuals and business leaders. When working with individuals, Nia guides them through the process of establishing goals, surveying resources, and identifying internal stopgaps. Nia's work with business leaders has been focused on navigating the formation process and helping them build systems that account for growth and future obstacles. In 2016, Nia expanded her services to include providing diversity training and unconscious bias facilitation to organizations. Through this service, Nia leverages her Organizational Behavior and Development training to assist businesses as they diversify their staff, create inclusive environments, and work to ensure that the implementation of policies and procedures don't undercut their bottom line or their diversity strategies.

Nia serves on the Board of Directors of EJES, Inc. a young private engineering, architecture, and construction management firm that has excelled at implementing multi-million dollar contracts throughout the Gulf Coast area with a staff of just under 100 employees. Nia received her Bachelor of Arts from Villanova, her International MBA from Pepperdine, and her Juris Doctor from Hofstra. Nia is admitted to the New York State Bar. She is known for her witty and straightforward approach that is peppered with pop culture references and Southern metaphors. Although she will always be a southern girl at heart, Nia calls Long Island, New York her home base. In her spare time, she enjoys traveling, trying new food, and writing.

"When you know better, you do better." Maya Angelou